During the 1953-1964 period Lincoln-Way has increased in enrollment from about 350 people to this year's 1,076. Along with this population increase a building addition has been periodically affixed to the school to keep pace. It is at the school that a part of each of us remains, and this year these brick walls can boast an accumulation of a decade.

With the knowledge of foreign languages we can exchange more ideas with other nations in the hope of finding new and lasting solutions for world peace. It is also said that a language is its people, so when a student undertakes the study of a language he is really undertaking the study of another people.

Written and spoken expression is essential in all phases of life. English teachers work toward this goal by instructing Lincoln-Way students in composition, public speaking, and by exploring the works of literary genius.

SCIENCE

GEORGE R. ABRAHAM
B.S., Wisconsin State
M.S., Univ. of Ill.

The goal of Lincoln-Way's science department is to instill in the student a knowledge of the biological, chemical, and physical sciences. These studies are taught by teachers who try to create in the minds of their students a new understanding which will prepare them for a fast moving tomorrow.

MATH

In the world of shapes and numbers, we find students who seek the understanding and logical reasoning of mathematics. Our math teachers keep pace with the "new" mathematics, in providing a progressive course of study.

Healthy minds and healthy bodies are both of equal importance. A healthy body is necessary to develop a healthy mind. The Physical Education department with its team sports, individual sports, and recreation equips us with healthy bodies to fulfill our lives.

SOCIAL STUDIES

KEVIN McGIVERN
B.A., State Univ. of Iowa

With the ever closing gap between continents—both in time proximity and communication—people must learn to accept and understand their international brothers. This colossal task is developing in size, but its solution is also being sought through organizations such as the United Nations and the American Field Service. Lincoln-Way has its Social Studies department devoted to help students know and understand other people.

BUSINESS

PAUL M. THOMAS
B.S., Eastern Ill. Univ.
M.S., Univ. of Ill.

The commercial world is a busy and a competitive one, and speed is the word it thrives on. Therefore, the business department emphasizes the age-old cliché, practice makes perfect. It is only through genuine effort and practice that one acquires these business skills.

ART AND

Electricity, drafting, woodworking, and metalworking are the four industrial crafts taught in this department. Students learn the use of tools and the importance of accuracy in developing skills for the future building of their vocational trade.

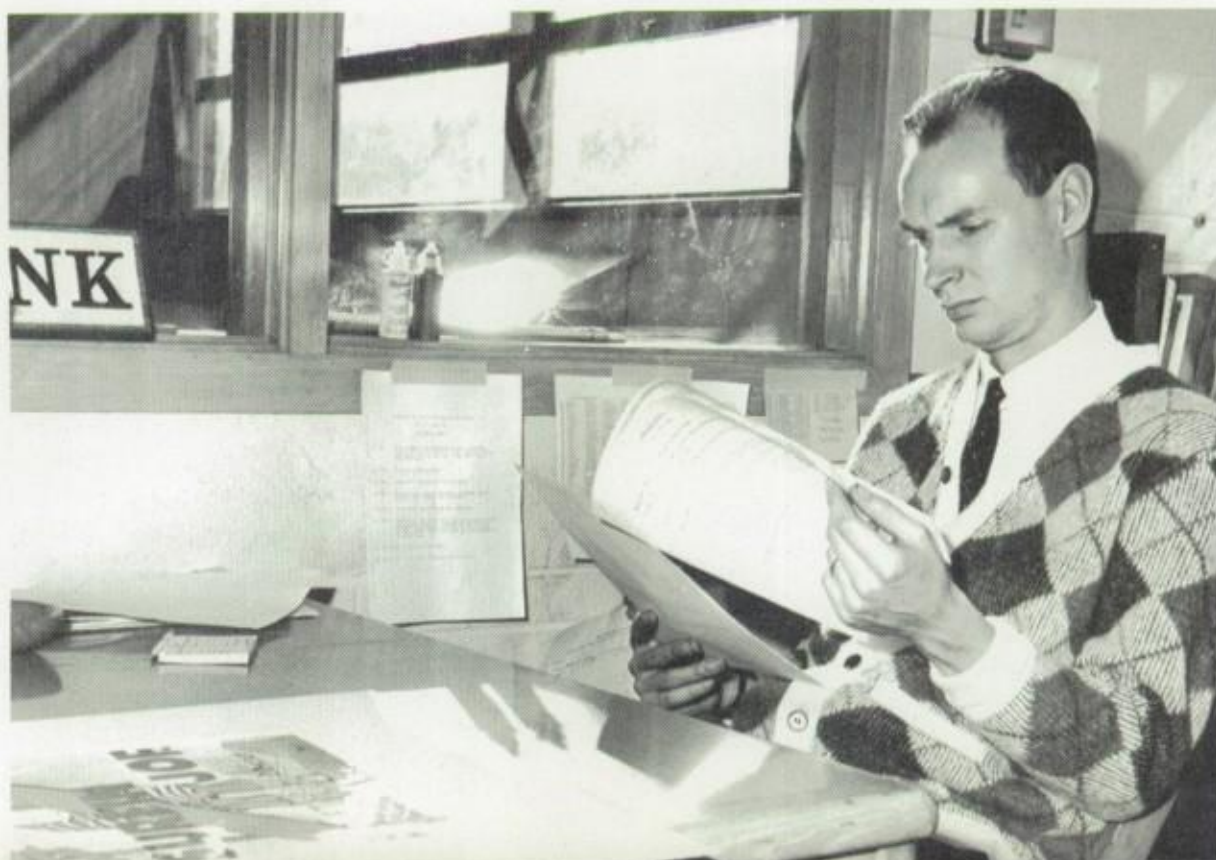

RAYMOND PAGE
B.S., Univ. of Ill.
M.S., Univ. of Ill.

Painting, silk screening, sculpture, and crafts, all signify art. And Lincoln-Way's art students learn the fine points of each of these skills and others. Creativity in this department is fostered by the informal atmosphere.

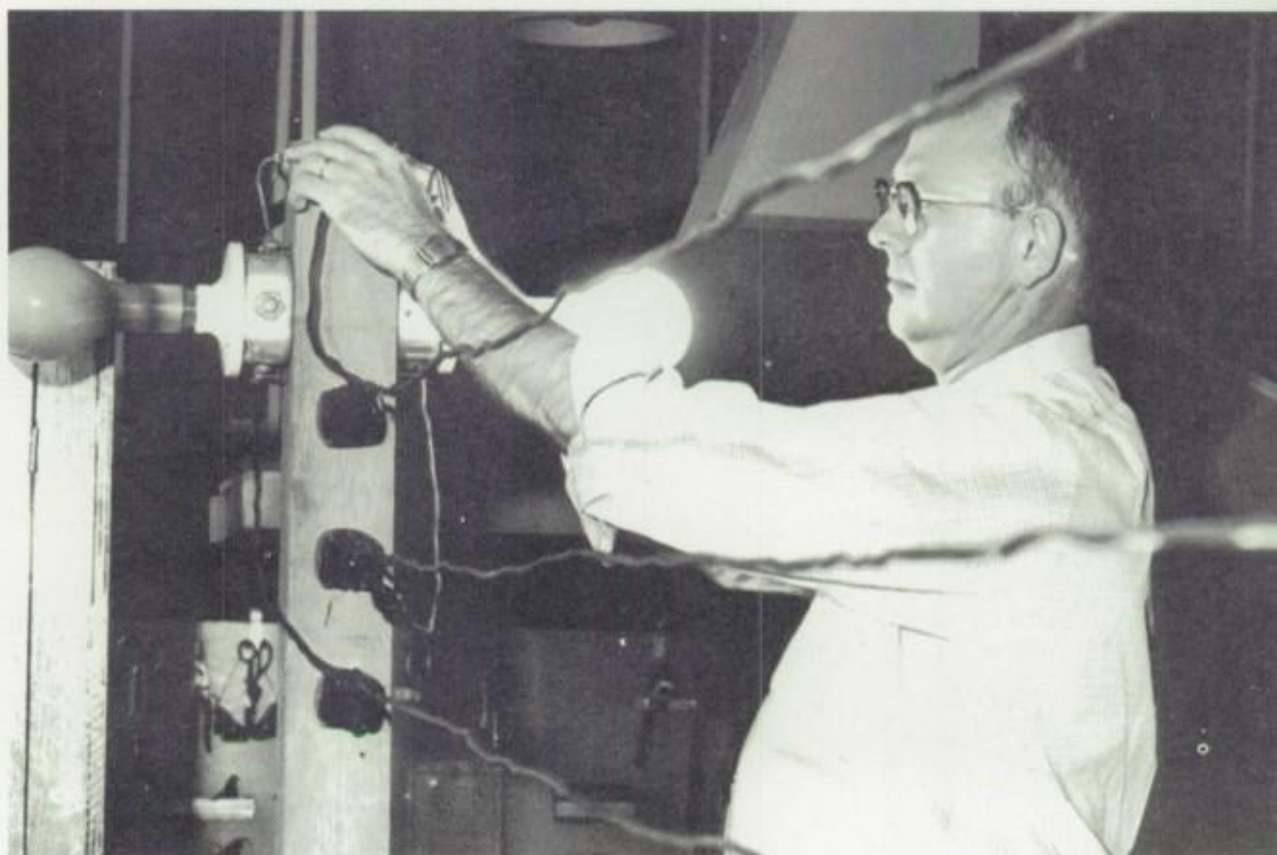

JAMES R. PITCAIRN
B.S., Ill. State Univ.

VOCATIONAL

ROBERT R. VanRHEEDEN
B.S., Univ. of Ill.
M.S., Univ. of Ill.

Learning new scientific methods of planting and producing a bountiful crop is the main concern of the students in agriculture. The principles of soil conservation and crop rotation are explored in Vocational Agriculture. The goal of the students taking this course is to become a farm leader.

To keep a home in the best condition requires the skill of economy and doing things well. The girls of the Home Economics department are aware of this and strive for perfection in these qualities. They all realize that the goal of a future homemaker revolves around the accomplishment of these two requirements.

Here is the sanctuary, the refuge. Here, a lonely freshman finds companionship in the fantasy of fiction. An industrious sophomore begins work on his first research paper. A dreamy junior and his lady love discuss a Shakespeare romance. A forward-looking senior studies the college catalogues. All are drawn to the quiet, thought-stimulating atmosphere of the library.

GUIDANCE

The guidance program was organized specifically to inform and direct the students, both socially and scholastically. Individual group meetings are held to discuss topics concerning personal problems and plans for the future. It is the sole purpose of this program to develop and widen the student's interest in various fields.

Music
M.M.E., Millikin Univ.

The music department serves our school and the surrounding area by encouraging the listening, playing, and singing of good music. Bands and choruses provide an opportunity for students to participate in music activities, while advancing their knowledge of music.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE serves as an advisory committee to the school administration. Discussion is centered on both school problems and policy. Representatives are sent from each of the respective departments, and the committee's purpose is to serve as a channel of communication between the teachers and superintendent.

“TEN YEARS AGO . . .”

Ten years ago plans were being carefully made for a school referred to as “A School for Tomorrow.” This significant title has served ever since as a guiding light for the community and administration in keeping abreast of the tremendous changes during this period. Probably no decade in history has ever equalled this golden era of educational growth.

From the beginning the Board of Education and administration were dedicated to the very best educational program within the financial means of the community to be served. They were especially cognizant of the importance that all youth should be provided a sound education regardless of their talents or handicaps.

During this ten year period Lincoln-Way has grown in stature, reputation, and prestige primarily due to the many loyal teachers, employees, parents, and interested citizens who have so capably assisted in this gigantic project. A good school requires this sincere dedication from everyone concerned.

My particular thanks to the Lincoln-Way students to whom this book is dedicated. We are convinced they will always be a real credit to their school and to their community.

We trust the following decade will prove even more fruitful than the one just concluded. We accept the challenge constantly to strive for the quality educational program desired in this rapidly growing community.

BUILDING SERVICES

Frank Goetschel
Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds

We sometimes forget to appreciate our bus drivers' prompt service. Providing safe and much-needed daily transportation are: (left to right) Supervisor Fred Weitendorf, Marian Mark, Jack Chestnut, Howard Hutchins, and Burnett Schram.

Gunvor La Vinn, Nevaleane Hurley, Laverne Yunker, Elsie Hearn, Thelma Farley, Sylvia Konecny, Peg Balbinot, Alma Lauffer, Alice Bradley, Supervisor Vivian Kluth.

The dietary staff works tirelessly each day preparing the hot meals and snacks to be served during the lunch periods. It is their responsibility to see that the meals are well-balanced and tasty. During lunchroom conversations, students munch on French fries oblivious that four-hundred pounds of potatoes must be peeled daily to provide their favorite snack.

Each of the five people at left has rendered ten years of service for Lincoln-Way. They are Gunvor La Vinn, Herman Lange, Frank Goetschel, Floyd Mundt, and Vivian Kluth.

The physical education classes use stacks of towels each day. The job of keeping these towels clean and fluffy belongs to Mrs. Ruby Anderson.

Looking at blueprints of new hallways to keep clean are Howard Dodds, Floyd Mundt, Herman Lange and John Semetis.

Our school is kept clean and presentable by our custodians. Part of their job is to see that building repairs are completed. Temperature and air condition inside our school is comfortable and proper because of their efforts.

BAND

School spirit is greatly aided by the unselfish giving of the band members' time to provide music for pep assemblies and football and basketball games. In January, they presented a 10th Anniversary Concert, after which they held a reception and reunion for all old band members. In addition to these activities, the band also took a two day tour to south-central Illinois in which they played five concerts. Their spring concert culminated their efforts for the entire year.

GIRLS' GLEE

The ultimate goal of Girls' Glee is musical proficiency. This is accomplished through extensive training in sight reading and vocal technique such as enunciation, voice projection and intonation. To exhibit these accomplishments, the girls give various performances during the school year. On tour they perform before other schools. At Christmas, they appear in both the Christmas Vespers and Assembly where they display their talents acquired through hard work and effort. All this leads up to their final triumph, when they write, produce, and perform in the spring variety show.

SINGING KNIGHTS

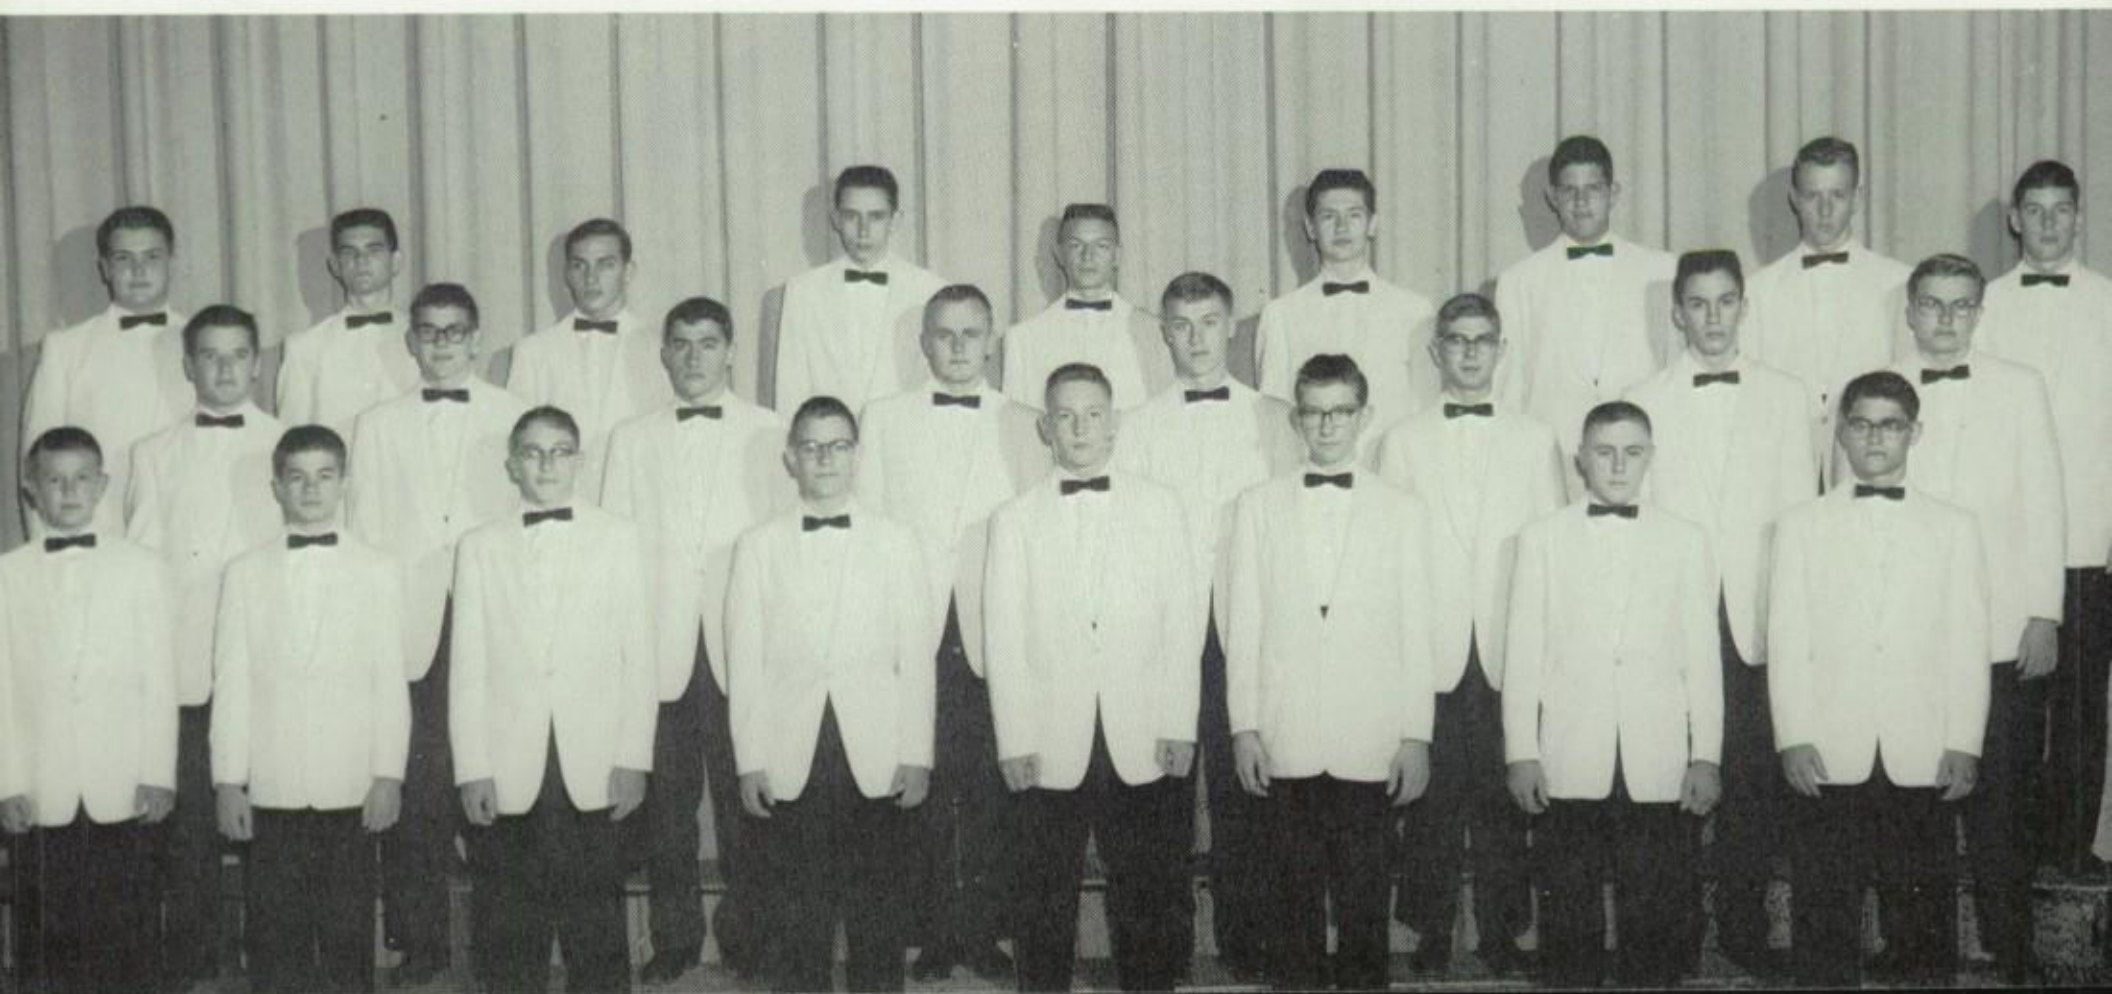

A select group of twenty-five boys chosen from Freshmen and Mixed Choruses have proven that boys can excel in music as well as in sports. Singing at the fall and spring concerts, the spring variety show, the Christmas Vespers and Assembly, and various engagements throughout Will County, these boys have shown excellent examples of rhythm and harmony. The product of their work has been amplified by the newspaper articles praising their excellent singing.

CHORUS

Freshman Chorus serves as a training ground in basic vocal music skills. Members learn elementary steps in the reading and the appreciation of music concerned with four-part harmony. In addition to this, the course includes practice in interpreting key signatures and rhythmic timing. Activities include an annual concert and performances at parent-teacher functions.

CONTEST PLAY

"What's all this I hear about you, Juliet?"

"If you ask me, experience is the best teacher."

Every year, the Speech Department prepares a play for Conference and District competition. This year, under the direction of Mr. McClain, the play When Shakespeare's Ladies Meet was performed. Although the play did not receive honors at District, the experience was invaluable to all concerned.

NATIONAL

SOCIETY

Twice a year, select Lincoln-Way students are inducted into the National Honor Society as a result of their academic and personal success in high school. Before a student is chosen for N.H.S. membership, he must maintain a high scholastic average throughout his four years in high school. He must also show high qualities in character, leadership, and service. The eligible students are rated by the teachers on these three intangible qualities. Membership is limited to fifteen per cent of the entire class provided this many receive the required recommendations. Membership in this organization is a challenge to the student desiring to improve himself in preparation for life after high school.

Entering a new high school is alarming enough, but to do this in a foreign country magnifies the experience. This feat was accomplished, however, by our Swedish foreign exchange student from Stockholm, Lars Lindholm.

Lars' ability to make friends was obvious and probably due to his poise and confidence with the English language. Credit is certainly due his American "sister," Jeanine Peters, who helped Lars become an American for ten months.

His attendance at athletic events and other school sponsored events proved him a faithful Lincoln-Way Knight.

SPEECH, DEBATE

In their free time, interested students prepare for competition in debate and individual speech events for presentation at conference and district contests as well as various interscholastic meets. Speeches include everything from original oration to comedy reading. This year many contestants distinguished themselves in speech and debate. Among them are Jim Gorman, Sue Novak, Ginger Radd, Pam Petnuch, Gary Stokes, and Michele Chuck, of which the last three continued to Sectionals.

The student council is the student-governing organization of the school. It provides an opportunity for students to gain experience in governmental processes.

Representatives must maintain a scholastic average of "C" or above and should be of good character.

Yearly events are discussed and planned at weekly meetings. The student council organizes all student activities and governs all student concessions.

It is the duty of the council to promote an attitude of loyal, constructive school spirit and cooperation among the Lincoln-Way Student body.

SSO

S.S.O. is organized to serve the needs of Lincoln-Way students in several ways. During the year, members monitor the study halls and cafeteria lines. Training in self-discipline is accomplished by having student-governed study halls.

The controlling body is the executive board which handles all minor discipline problems by conducting trials. When the case is severe, this group will refer it to teachers, supervisors or the principal's office for disposition.

AEGIS

With the help of Mr. Joe Hyde, student teacher from I.S.U., the sports section is put in shape by Ann Smith.

On to the typists who make the final copy, and doing this task we find Sherry Cochran and Terry Hartman.

Correcting errors brought everyone into the discussion here. From the left are Pat Bomher, Larry Wallschlaeger, Alice Black and Kathy Hunniford.

STAFF

Promoting the yearbook is part of the duties of the Business Staff. Holding one of the many posters used to do the job is Diane Moss (l) and Chris Stanisz (r.). The three business staffers behind the poster are Linda Anderson, Patti Sandmann, and Donna Youngren.

Equally difficult was the completion of the final copies of the underclassman section. Lee Steinbrenner (l.) and Peggy Schroader (r.) look on while Larry Wallschlaeger makes a correction.

A black and white photograph capturing an intense moment during a football game. In the center, a player wearing a dark jersey with the number 27 is running forward, clutching the football. He is being tackled from the side by a player in a light-colored jersey with the number 10. Another player in a light jersey with the number 14 is also visible, running towards the play. In the foreground, a player in a light jersey is lying on the grass, having been tackled. The background shows a grassy field with other players and spectators, and a large building is visible in the distance under a clear sky.

Co-ordinating and directing the athletic department is a job handled by Mr. Paul LaVinn. He administers contracts, orders equipment and ties loose ends together for a smoothly operating unit throughout the year.

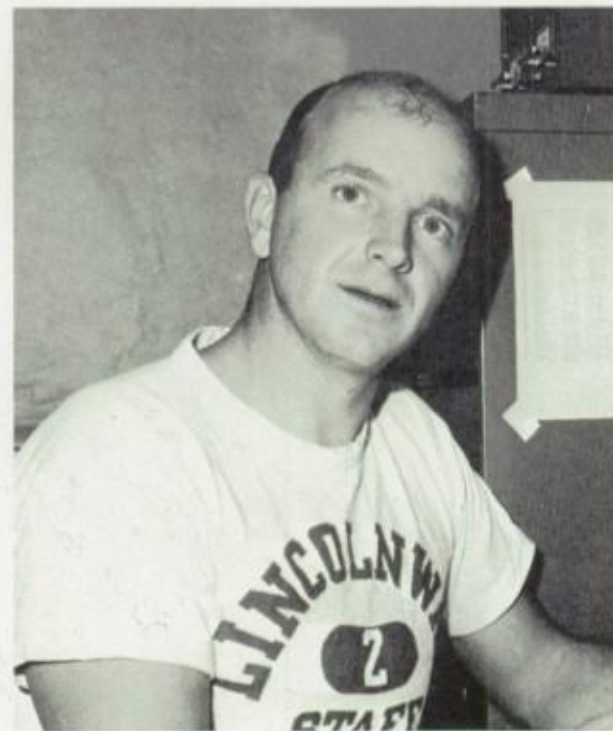

FOOTBALL

Coach West discusses a new football play with Coach Mackay.

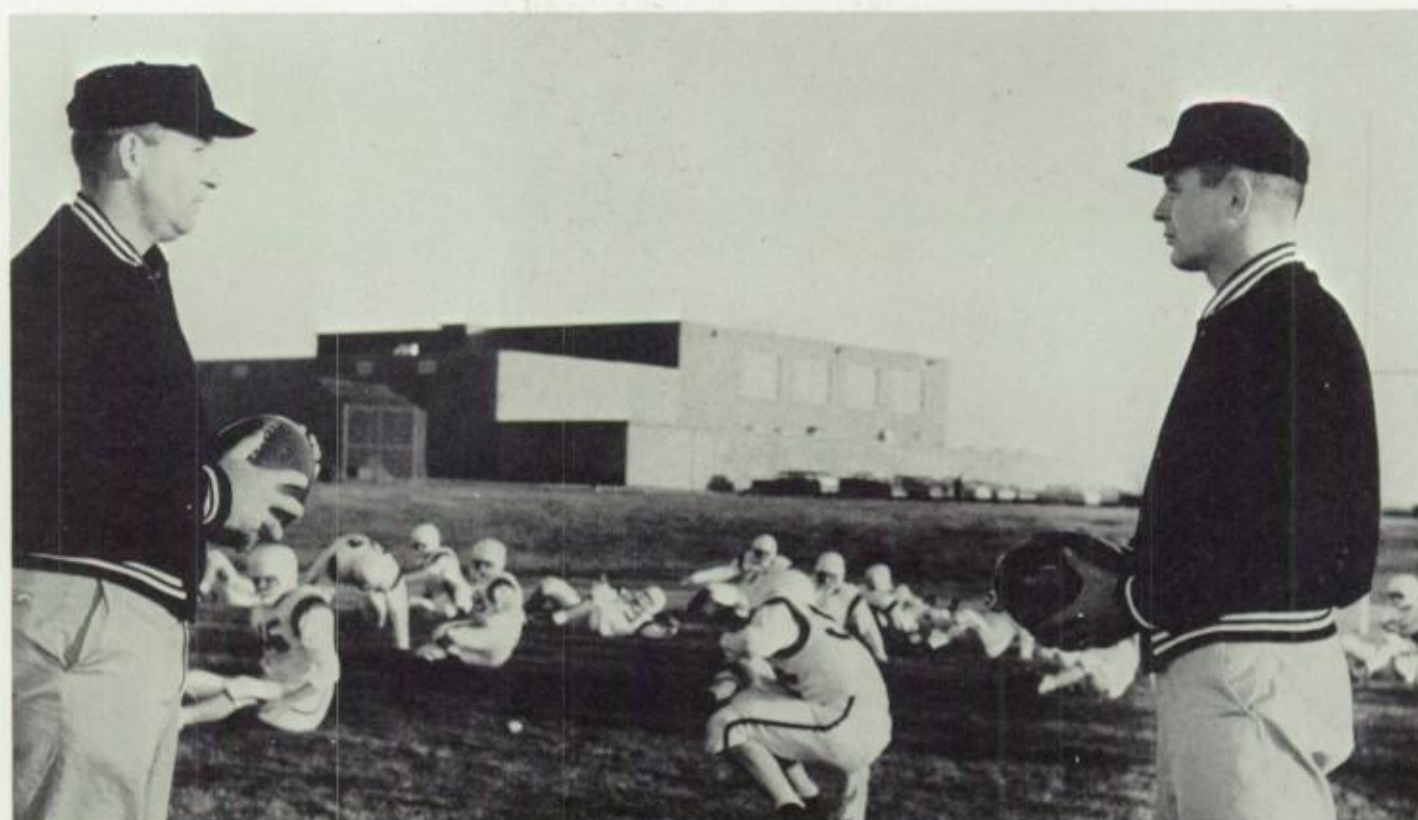

Coaches Page, Smith, and Lashmet are intent on the possibility of a first down.

Mr. Jonas Lashmet has been head coach of football at Lincoln-Way ever since the school was established ten years ago. He coached baseball for six of these ten years. This year marked the end of Lashmet teams at our school with his retirement from coaching. He still remains a loyal member of the L-W staff, however, as chairman of the Guidance Department.

Graduation day for the class of '64 marks the day of no more school for many of us, but only a temporary interruption in our studies for those going on to higher education. Regardless of which way we go, we will soon come to realize that this may be the last time

STAFF

The first picture is taken and the race is on to meet the deadline. Layouts, pictures, copy, more pictures, the first deadline, rushing, hard work, more deadlines, and then it was finished. The 10th Anniversary Aegis is now complete and in your hands. The yearbook staff hopes you enjoy it.
